Coroner Ferdinand Eldman began an inquest yesterday into the cause of death of aged Druggist Thaiberg Biedenfeld of 3 Sec-ond avenue, who died on Jan. 8 after a scuffle with his clerk, Anders Holm. Bledenfeld's young and pretty wife, after Bledenfeld died, told the Coroner that there had been a game of eards in a room in the rear of the store, in which were her husband, herself, Anna Pfaff, the domestic. The clerk, Anders Holm, took a hand. Biedenfield had been drinking, the wife said, and he attempted to beat her and throw a soap box at her, whereupon Holm seized Biedenfeld, and in the scuffle Biedenfeld was thrown. He fell on the soap box.

Dr. Herman Rumber of 31 First street testified that on the evening of Jan. 7 he found Mr. Biedenfeld sick, and Biedenfeld told him that Holm had struck him and thrown him against a soap box. Leo Poizin of 135 East Houston street, who had been a clerk for Mr. Biedenfeld, testified that he visited the Biedenfelds on the night that he visited the Biedonfelds on the night Biedenfeld was hurt. Mr. Biedenfeld, the domestic Anna Pfaff, Anders Holm, and Mrs. Holm drank wine and beer. Everybody played cards, and in the game a dispute arose. Biedenfeld threw a wine glass at his wife, which struck; her on the breast. The glass broke. Mr. and Mrs. Holm went home, and afterward Holm returned to use his influence in making peace between the husband and wife. Biedenfeld continued to use violent language in addressing his wife, and then Holm commanded Biedenfeld to stop talking. Biedenfeld tried to hit his wife with a bottle, but Anna Pfaff took it from him. Then the witness left the room, and as he was leaving he saw Biedenfeld with a soap box in his hand. The witness thought at the time, he added that it was one of the usual quarrels of the Biedenfelds. Returning to the room a minute afterward, the witness saw both Holm and Biedeufeld lying on the floor. He helped both to their feet, and Biedenfeld wanted Holm to go outside and fight. They went, but they did not fight. The witness did not know that Biedenfeld was injured seriously.

"Was Mr. Biedenfeld very jenlous of his "Was Mr. Bledenfeld very jealous of his young wife?" asked Coroner Eldman. "Yes, sir. He was jealous of any man who entered the family circle."

"Yes, sir. He was jealous of any man who entered the family circle."
"Of you?"
"Yes, sir. I suppose so."
Elsa Margaret Holm, wife of the prisoner, of 42 Second street, described the quarrel. Mrs. Bledenfeld drank nothing, the witness said, On the next morning after the visit. Mrs. Holm said, Mrs. Bledenfeld visited her and said that Mr. Bledenfeld in raising a soap box to throw at her stepped on a marble, such as boys play with, and fell, striking en the box, with Holm on Bledenfeld.

Finally the domestic Anna Pfaff, corroborated on Biedenieid. Finally the domestic, Anna Pfaff, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Holm, and added that last summer she held Mr. Biedenieid while Mrs. Biedenield struck him several sharp blows with a stick.

"He was so ugly dot somedings had to be done," Miss Pfaff said. The inquest is still on.

WAR IN A LIBRARY.

The Socialist Labor Party Squabbling Over

Mrs. Cynthia Leonard and Miss Anna P. Johnson are to appear this morning to answer dispossess proceedings brought against them in the Civil Justice's Court at Jefferson Market Olinton place, where the ladies have had charge of a Workingmen's Free Library and Reading Room. The institution was established under the auspices of the American Section, Socialistic Labor Party. A disagreement in the Labor party is the cause of the trouble, and the landlords are said to be influenced by one side against the other. The men, led by Col. d J. Hinton and Charles Sotheran, de-side against the other. The men, led by Col. Bichard J. Hinton and Charles Sotheran, declare that the library has become a nest of woman's suffragists, that the women are Anarchists, and that they have seized the library and are holding it against the society, which is its rightful owner.

Miss Johnson, who was found intrenched in the cold, cheerless, and dismantled room, said yesterday that the books were all in her charge properly, and that the only ones that she could not produce papers to show this for were covered by a claim of $200 for her services. She declared that the trouble was entirely with Col. Hinton, who was, as usual, in the attitude of wishing to rule or ruin. He and Sotheran, she said, were trying to force them out and run things to suit themselves. There had been a great deal of trouble all the time since the election. About that time, when an investigation was being made in behalf of Allen Thorndike Rice, to see if $10,000 put into the institution would be a substantial help to the workingmen, Col. Hinton would not let them try to get any part of it. He said that it was offered for political purposes. Miss Johnson said of this, very mournfully:

"It would have made us so comfortable, and the idea of that man making such an objection. I can prove that he sold out the Leader and the party to Tom Flatt."

Miss Johnson also said that the rent money had been tendered to the landlords, and it was refused at the instigation of the Hinton people, who pretend, by virtue of action taken at a packed meeting of the Lycoum, to be in charge of the place and to have decided to give up the room. She is very positive in saying that they will get neither the books nor the room.

"The last moments of Mozart," the latest work on a large scale of the Hungarian painter, M. de Munkacsy, was shown by Mr. Charles Sedelmeyer at the Twenty-third Street Taber-nacle yesterday. The picture will remain on exhibition for a short time by permission of its owner, Gen. Russell A. Alger of Detroit, ex-Governor of Michigan. Gen. Alger was a com-petitor with Mr. Wanamaker of Philadelphia petitor with Mr. Wanamaker of Philadelphia for the picture of "Christ before Pilate." It was in fact sold to both gentlemen on the same day by a mistake, and $10,000 had to be paid to Gen. Alger to indemnify him for not getting the painting which he desired to present to the Michigan Museum. He was one of the first to whom the "Mozart" was shown whon it reached this country last spring, and he bought it at once. It also was intended for the museum, but it has been kept at his house thus far.

The canvas is 8 feet by 11, and the scene is an interior showing eleven figures, with a harpsichord and furniture and hangings. It represent the incident of Mozart's request, the day before his death, to hear the finished portions of his "Bequiem" sung.

News of Josie Mansfield.

Dr. Kimball, a chiropodist, who has just returned from Europe, said yesterday in Paterson:

"By the way, whom do you think I saw in Baden-Baden but Josle Mansfield, who captured the heart of Jim Fisk. I knew Josie well by sight while she was in New York. and I was by sight while she was in New York, and I was surprised to see that, despite the years that have passed, she has hardly changed a particle. She is the same dashing, handsome woman that she was in 1870. She is inclover, too, and is to be seen daily on the drives in the finest of equipages, with liveried coachmen and footmen, to all intents and purposes a countess. Her manner is the personification of dignity, and she seems to have an acquaintance with many of the titled ladies that inhabit that wicked but delightful resort."

The Plain Truth

Is that Hood's Sarsaparilla has bured thousands of people who suffered severely with rheumatism. It neu-tralises the lactic acid in the blood, which causes those terrible pains and aches, and also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus preventing the recurrence of the disease. These facts warrant us in urging you, if you suffer with rheumatism, to give Hood's Sarsapartila a trin.

"Having been troubled with indammatory rheumatian for many years, my favorable attention was called to Hood's Sarsaparilla by an advertisement of cures it had offected. I have now used three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and can already testify to beneficial results. I highly recommend it as a great blood purifier."—J. C. AYERS. West Bloomfield. N. Y.

Was It Too Exciting for Mr. Hofgenny !-

John Hofgesang, the proprietor of a handsome hotel and saloon in Railroad avenue and Market street, opposite the Erie depot in Paterson, died yesterday morning of enlargement of the heart. The following circumstance is re-lated as a remote cause of his trouble: About seven weeks ago he took his 'third degree in Humboldt Lodge of Free Masons. The Wor-shipful Master, Samuel Kind, is an enthusiast anipus Master, Samuel Kind, is an enthusiast in the order and one of the finest German work-ers in the State. He was making the ceremony particularly impressive for Mr. Hofgesang both on account of his being a man of superior intelligence and because he had prepared a collation for the members of the lodge after the closing.

intelligence and because he had prepared a collation for the members of the lodge after the closing.

At the end of the first part of the ceremony of the third degree Mr. Hofgesang retired to the anteroom in company with his guides, and was prepared for the last part of the ceremonial. He appeared to be much agitated. He said that he felt very sick, and asked how much longer the ceremony would last. He was assured that it was almost through, and was encouraged not to be excited, as all the others had passed through the same ordeal without harm. It was apparent that he was sick, but he stood the ordeal with fortifude, and soon he was raised to the degree of Master Mason. At the end of the ceremony he was so prostrated that he was unable to accompany the brethren to the supper he had ordered, and while the others were having a good time at his expense he was in his bed. He has not been well since that night. He has been troubled with fits of prostration and feelings of weakness about his beart, and although he has been about a great deal of the time he has been far from well. A day or two ago he took to his bed.

tosh & Co. of Manchester, Eng. (the greatest rubber manufacturers in the world), recently established a New York agency, and as the best means of protecting their trade mark, decided to put their genuine goods on this market at prices low enough to "knock out" competition. Looking for a firstclass, lively medium of distribution, they naturally came to us; we took the contract, and the first installment of the overcoats are now on our tables at $16, $18 and $20,

Most persons imagine a rubber coat as a stuffy, stifling affair, and so it usually is. Recently, however, a bright Yankee named Byers discovered a means of thorough ventilation by using a perforated epaulet, which renders a rubber coat as comfortable as any other. The American makers adopted Byers' device, but apparently tried to squelch him by charging a dollar extra for coats so equipped, simply because they paid Byers twelve cents royalty. Macintosh & Co. saw their chance. They now put Byers' ventilator into every coat they make and reduce prices to less than half the old figures. We say "Hurrah for Macintosh and Byers, too." When you get an English "Macintosh" for a five dollar bill, it is a satisfaction to feel that Yankee ingenuity helped make it the most per-

English "Macintosh" coats have long been deemed a luxury. Few men care to pay $18 to $30 for a garment to wear only in rainy weather. Those who don't mind the price pay retailers an enormous profitso great that several American rubber manufacturers have begun making cloth-faced rubber coats that are sold as "Macin-

BABY HUMORS

And all Skin and Scalp Diseases Speedily Cured by Cuticura.

Our little son will be four years of age on the 20th inst. In May, 1880, he was attacked with a very painful break-ing out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment, as the breaking out, supposed by the physician to be hives in an aggravated form, became larger in blotches and more and more distressing. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, &c. Finally we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible malady. In all we used less than one-half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA, and only one cake of CUTI-CURA SOAP. H. E. RYAN, Cayuga Livingston Co., III. Last spring I was very sick, being covered with some kind of scrofuls. The doctors could not help me. I was advised to try the CUTICURA RESOLVENT.
